

Growth models do not denote risk factoring and % delegation in full.

There are risks associated with yield farming and other defi mechanisms that should be studied, understood, and implemented using small test grouping amounts before any full deployment.